

ABOUT THE SPARK! CREATOR STUDIO: PREPARING TODAY'S STUDENTS FOR TOMORROW'S OPPORTUNITIES

The SPARK! Creator Studio provides students ages ten (10) through high school a collaborative workshop environment where they can use a wide array of tools and technologies to build, invent, create and problem-solve. This program combines the equipment of a Makerspace, technology of a Computer Lab and materials of a Tinker Studio.

The concept of the educational makerspace is part of a long tradition of constructivist thought in education which emphasizes the importance of hands-on learning for children. To be prepared, today's students need to not just consume technology, but also create with it. They need skills represented by the creative process which SPARK! defines as Inspiration with Collaboration and Iteration leads to Innovation. Educational makerspaces with their emphasis on design challenges, adult mentorships and hands-on learning promote all of these important skills.

In the SPARK! Creator Studio, students will be trained to use a variety of analog and digital tools, attend skill-building workshops led by professionals, artists, artisans and engineers, and engage in self-selected and self-directed projects based on their strengths and interests.

Hours: Sundays from 12 p.m. to 5 p.m. and Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Cost: Because of our generous benefactors, the SPARK! Creator Studio is offered free of charge.
